Will shopping change as we know it? #AMAZON is here...

Making its way from the states... AMAZON is hitting our shores

The Amazon juggernaut is coming to Australia.

Expected launch and opening date is yet to be confirmed but it is expected come November, Amazon will be open for business! Based on its track record in other countries, Amazon will spend hundreds of millions of dollars over the next few years to establish its services in Australia and become a real powerhouse within the retail industry.

What does Amazon do? Simply, Amazon sells stuff. Lots of stuff. You can find, clothing, jewellery, food, cosmetics, sporting goods, pet supplies, books, computers, furniture, garden supplies, bedding, electrical equipment and almost anything and everything else you might buy. Only catch, no actual store. All online, with rapid delivery times.

Amazon has also already announced it has secured a large packaging warehouse (in Dandenong south) and staff recruitment is well and truly underway. You know Amazon mean business when the warehouse they have secured is bigger than the MCG!

Amazon launched in Spain six years ago, and they now provide approximately 175 million products... Now thats some serious numbers! Time will tell how Australia will react to the giant entering our backyard. It is expected to change the landscape of how we shop!

Why is travel insurance important?

How a Switzerland holiday went terrible wrong... Thankfully Emma had Cover-More travel insurance

Emma was on a three-month trip backpacking through Europe with her best friend when she decided to go tandem skydiving with an experienced instructor in Switzerland.

The highlight of the trip turned disaster when the parachute failed to open and the ropes of the main and safety chute twisted around the instructor's neck—neither chute inflated properly meaning that Emma and her instructor fell too quickly and hit the ground at speed.

Paramedics at the scene put Emma on a spinal board and moved her into a helicopter for the hospital. Her medical team found that Emma had fractured her back, vertebrae and her pelvis.

Immediately after Emma's accident, the skydiving school contacted Cover-More Australia and they quickly arranged for Emma's mother and sister to fly to Switzerland to be by her side.

Emma underwent two serious spinal surgeries to mend the damage to her vertebrae and reset her pelvis. Once Emma was stable and medically fit to fly, Cover-More arranged an air ambulance to transport Emma home for specialist treatment and rehabilitation.

"If it wasn't for Cover-More... I just feel like the luckiest girl in the world. When you're told you might never walk again and then you can... I have a whole new perspective on life" Emma Carey.

Total cost to Emma for her travel insurance-$560

Total medical/accommodation/travel costs-$139,469
With all being covered by Cover-More travel insurance.

BBQ Haloumi with strawberry salsa

Refreshing, delicious and WHO DOESNT LOVE HALOUMI...

- 250g strawberries, finely chopped
- 1/2 small red onion, finely chopped
- 2 tablespoons lime juice
- 2 teaspoons honey
- 1/4 cup coarsely chopped coriander
- 2 tablespoons finely shredded mint
- 1 red chilli, seeded, finely chopped
- 1 1/2 tablespoon olive oil
- 2 x 250g haloumi pkts, cut into small thick slices

Combine the strawberry, onion, lime juice, honey, coriander, mint, chilli, if using, and 1 tablespoon of the oil in a medium bowl. Season.

Heat a barbecue or chargrill on high. Lightly brush the haloumi with remaining oil. Cook, in batches, for 1 min each side or until charred. Transfer to a serving platter. Top with strawberry mixture.

Serve and enjoy.
